

Activities for the song Word Space

- Make a poster:
The verses of the song are full of tips to help children with their writing.
Ask them to create a poster which reminds them of the things they need to remember, such as; sitting calmly on their seat, keeping their feet flat on the floor, sitting up straight, sounding out the words to support spelling and checking where their letters sit on the line.
Remember ascenders such as 'l' and 't' need to be taller than 'o' and 'a' and descenders such as 'g' and 'y' need to go below the line.
- Reading and writing around the house:
There are lots of reading and writing opportunities to be found around the home, from reading the back of cereal packets and shampoo bottles, to writing out shopping lists, recipes or instructions on how to use a machine such as the TV.
Try a daily challenge such as writing out the day's activities, writing and decorating the menu for the weekly meals or start a gratitude journal noting one thing that you're grateful for at the end of the day.
Why not write one thing you love about each family member on a sticky note and stick it somewhere they can find it?
- Digital book group:
Start a home book group, choosing a new book each week/fortnight (depending on length and difficulty) and review the book. Share your thoughts with your family.
Discuss characters, favourite parts and new words.
Maybe write an alternative ending to the story. What about video calling a friend/ family member to ask what they thought of the book, read bits of it together, or share your new version with them?
- Rap it to remember it:
Learn the song and get everyone in your home singing it together.
Rehearse the first rap section, ensuring clear diction; "pinch the pencil with your thumb and pointy finger and rest it gently on your middle finger".
Rap it over a few times until it's familiar.
- Make it active:
Create an action for each of the writing rules and use Kung Fu punctuation where you can.
Always bow to your opponent (always use a capital letter at the beginning of each sentence);
Use fingers spaces between words (if you need a reminder you can use a lolly stick or make a finger spacer by printing out or drawing a picture and adding a strip of paper to the top of it);
Use full stops at the end of sentences (make a fist and punch it out straight in front of you, saying "Ha!");
Robot talk words to help with spelling;
Write on the line.
Read your work through to check it for sense and punctuation;
Practise the actions with the song. Can you teach the chorus to someone in your family?
- Improve fine motor skills:
Do exercises to strengthen muscle tone and help fine (and gross motor skills) are a great idea. Fine motor skill activities improve dexterity.
Try threading, posting and slotting tasks such as: making pasta necklaces, poking straws into holes, dough disco, weaving around cardboard, threading beads on spaghetti, and picking up peas/dried beans with tweezers. Use different materials to write with.
Outdoors, you could use chalk on the ground, twigs in the sand or paintbrushes and water on concrete or a brick wall (it dries without leaving marks).
Indoors, create a tray with material such as sand, paint, jelly and shaving foam and encourage children to form letters and words with their fingers.
